THE FRUIT.

Damage by the Cold Spell of Sunday.

There was considerable uneasiness manifested by our neighboring fruit-growers when the gale of Sunday morning sped furiously over the lower section of this county. The storm was accompanied in some sections by a slight rain, and followed by a heavy wind and occasional snow all day yesterday and last night.

last night.

It was thought at first that the entire peach, apricot, apple and cherry crops would be destroyed. Luckily, however, the frost was a dry one, and this proved the salvation of the crop. Nevertheless it was understood that some damage had been done, and, to ascertain the extent, one of our representatives and it is able to be a secretain. tives made it his object this morning to ascertain its extent. Captain Hunt, of Valley Junction, Secre-

captain Hunt, of Valley Junction, Secre-tary of Postmaster Loge, stated that it was a lucky thing that it was a dry frost. Peach and apricot trees were in full bloom in that vicinity, and promised a rich yield. These were the only ones far enough advanced to sustain injury. Apple and cherry trees would not suffer at all.

would not suffer at all.

Assistant Postmaster Thornton, of Wyoning, feared no damage to the trees in that vicinity. A thorough examination, however, had not been made this morning. Mr. Robert Clarke, of Glendale, stated that the frest was so dry, and that so much protection had been given by the clouds, that he thought no injury had been sus-

Mr. Miles Johnston, of Branch Hill, O., was confident that no damage was done in his vicinity, Colonel W. H. Hill, General Agent of the Ohio State Grange, has not yet received ad-vices from the interior as to the damage done. He states that all from whom he has heard up to noon are under the impression hat the frost has affected all the wheat that is jointed. At least there will not be as sig a crop as expected. Large damage has been done.

Peaches also suffer exceedingly, and cherries in some places lightly. The remainder of the fruits are not injured.

John Riboway, of Gallia County, and Amstead Emick, of Dayton, were arraigned before Judge Swing this morning, and in default of $500 bail, were committed to jail. Ridgway was charged with retailing liquor without paying special tax, and Enrick with peddling eigars without bond.
